Has the Commission to Investigate Public Corruption shut-down public hearings because of conflicts of interest?

According to the terse October 15th "Statement From Moreland Commission Co-Chairs", the Commission "will continue its mandate of investigating corruption...holding public hearings..." <http://www.publiccorruption.moreland.ny.gov/press-release/moreland-commission-statement-from-co-chairs>

When might those next "public hearings" be?

Is the reason the Commission is NOT holding "public hearings" because they expose conflicts of interest of Commission members, advisors, and staff? To date, the Commission has afforded the public only an hour and a half at a single public hearing – the Manhattan hearing – to testify as to the breadth of public corruption within its knowledge and experience.

The Commission's conflicts of interest were highlighted by my testimony at the Commission's September 17th Manhattan hearing and by the testimony of Mark Sacha at the Commission's September 24th Albany hearing, to which I gave audible comment from the audience. The video clips, as well as the full hearings, are here: www.judgewatch.org/web-pages/searching-nys/commission-to-investigate-public-corruption/people-evidence/menu-people-evidence.htm

Attached is my October 17th letter to Commission members and special advisors on the subject. It is posted, with my prior correspondence to the Commission, most importantly, my August 5th and October 4th letters, here: <http://www.judgewatch.org/web-pages/searching-nys/commission-to-investigate-public-corruption/aug-5-2013-ltr-etc.htm> .

I am available to answer your questions and to be interviewed.

Thank you.

Has the Commission to Investigate Public Corruption shut down public hearings because of conflicts of interest?

As you may know, the Commission's scheduled September 18th public hearing in Buffalo was pulled, without explanation, in early September -- and has never been rescheduled.

According to the terse October 15th "Statement From Moreland Commission Co-Chairs", the Commission "will continue its mandate of investigating corruption...holding public hearings..." <http://www.publiccorruption.moreland.ny.gov/press-release/moreland-commission-statement-from-co-chairs>

When might those next "public hearings" be? And what about the never-held Buffalo hearing?

Is the reason the Commission is NOT holding "public hearings" because they expose conflicts of interest of Commission members, advisors, and staff? To date, the Commission has afforded the public only an hour and a half at a single public hearing – the Manhattan hearing – to testify as to the breadth of public corruption within its knowledge and experience.

The Commission's conflicts of interest were highlighted by my testimony at the Commission's September 17th Manhattan hearing and by the testimony of Mark Sacha at the Commission's September 24th Albany hearing, to which I gave audible comment from the audience. The video clips, as well as the full hearings, are here: www.judgewatch.org/web-pages/searching-nys/commission-to-investigate-public-corruption/people-evidence/menu-people-evidence.htm

Attached is my October 17th letter to Commission members and special advisors on the subject. It is posted, with my prior correspondence to the Commission, most importantly, my August 5th and October 4th letters, here: <http://www.judgewatch.org/web-pages/searching-nys/commission-to-investigate-public-corruption/aug-5-2013-ltr-etc.htm> .

I am available to answer your questions and to be interviewed. There is important further information to report about the Buffalo hearing & I look forward to discussing it with you when you call.

Thank you.
