Center for Judicial Accountability, et al. v. Cuomo, et al. – Citizen-Taxpayer Action

Dear Court Attorney Dautel:

Once again, thank you for your assistance.

Attached, as discussed, is the exchange of e-mail of today's date between myself and Assistant Solicitor General Frederick Brodie, confirming his consent to my request for a further extension of time for appellants' filing of their letter in support of their appeal, of right – which will also extend respondents' time. Both sides' letters will now be due on Wednesday, March 27, 2019.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Dear Ms. Sassower,

Thank you for your email.

I consent to the proposed extension of the time to respond to the Court's March 4, 2019 letter, so that responses would be due on or before Wednesday, March 27.

Subject: CJA v. Cuomo Citizen-Taxpayer Action: Request for your consent to extension of time for filing of letter-comments to the Court of Appeals regarding appellants' appeal of right

TO: Assistant Solicitor General Frederick Brodie
Assistant Solicitor General Victor Paladino

As I am rather exhausted from copying, assembling, and inventorying the record of appellants' four appellate motions, which I priority mailed to the Court yesterday at about 5:30 pm, and am still in the initial stages of laying out my letter-comments in support of appellants' appeal of right, with necessary legal research yet undone, plus other matters requiring my attention, I telephoned Court Attorney Susan Dautel (518-455-7701), to inquire as to the procedure for a further extension of time. It appears to be identical to what she told me with regard to the initial extension. She again instructed that I contact you and request your consent – which would extend time for both sides.

Would you be agreeable to an extension to Wednesday, March 27th?

Thank you.
