Dear Ms. Sassower:

This is in response to your letter of January 24 in which you basically restate the arguments you set forth in your letter of September 14, 1995.

On October 3, 1995, I responded to your previous letter. As your recent letter raises no new substantive issues, there is little I can say that I have not already said.

The only new issue you raise is whether the Commission's Executive Director has the authority to make certain decisions. However, this issue is not relevant to the matters you have presented. As I informed you in my letter of October 3, the Commission followed Judge Cahn's decision with respect to your complaint against the Commission on Judicial Conduct. With regard to your complaint against the Attorney General's office, you raised no matters for the Commission to investigate. Thus, in neither case was there a decision to be made within the discretion of the Commission.

Again, there is nothing for the Commission to pursue.

Very truly yours,
