Elena,

Well, as you indicated over the phone, it is too long for our opinion format (1,000 words); Also, it's not quite an opinion piece, but more a response to a specific story, which is actually a letter to the editor. And I'd be happy to run it as a letter to the editor, but it would have to conform to about 800 words--about half of what you've got here. I'm going to look at this tomorrow AM, make some suggested cuts for length, then try to show you how we might be able to get this together for publication.

Right now it's late, and I've been her nearly 10 hours, so I must get home. I will e-mail you tomorrow as soon as I take a more careful look at the piece and send you some suggestions on its length/content. --Erin
