Dan Feldman teaches Oversight & Investigation, Ethics & Accountability, and Administrative Law. He was first elected to the New York State Assembly in 1980, and served as a member of the Legislature from 1981 through 1998, writing over 140 state laws, including New York's Megan's Law and Organized Crime Control Act. As Correction Committee chair for twelve years, he led some of the first efforts to repeal the Rockefeller drug laws. For six years thereafter, as a senior member of Attorney General Eliot Spitzer's staff, he exposed HUD's 203k mortgage loan guarantee scandal and led the investigation of UnumProvident's disability insurance scam. Until his full-time appointment at John Jay, he worked as Special Counsel for Law & Policy to New York State Comptroller Thomas DiNapoli. In September 2010 SUNY Press published his most recent book, with co-author Gerald Benjamin, Tales from the Sausage Factory: Making Laws in New York State. He wrote or co-authored three other books and numerous scholarly articles, and serves on the editorial board of Public Administration Review. His current research involves government oversight, administrative theory, and legal philosophy
