

Will call you week after next as per indicated.

The Nelson A.
Rockefeller
Institute of Government

411 State Street
Albany, New York
12203-1003

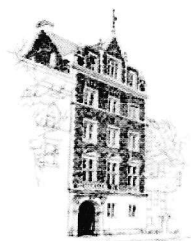

Dear Director Gins — 11/29/11
Here are my two letters each setting forth research proposals for scholarship on NYS constitution + governance.
Also — the verified complaint w/ 12
exhibits in the pending People's lawsuit vs the state + 3 branches of govt. 100 imps not to leave with made available for public use on the Institute's Web site

(www.rockinst.org). Also, the Institute regularly conducts Public Policy Forums, during which invited experts and panelists deliver presentations on critical and topical public policy issues. Guest speakers include top elected and appointed leaders from New York and other states, as well as academic experts. Through its Web site, the Institute makes audio and video of our forums available so that those unable to attend in person can listen. Finally, the Institute publishes books on various public policy issues through the Rockefeller Institute Press, including Fighting for Our Health: The Epic Battle to Make Health Care a Right in the United States and New York State Government: Second Edition, the leading text on the subject for students, government officials, and citizens.

The Rockefeller Institute also each year publishes the New York State Statistical Yearbook, containing a vast array of data about the state of New York.

THE NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER INSTITUTE OF GOVERNMENT

UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY State University of New York

The Nelson A. Rockefeller Institute of Government is a national, independent organization that researches and publishes on public policy issues, with a particular focus on the 50 states and the local governments within them. A public policy “think tank” that seeks to educate rather than advocate, the Institute focuses on: state fiscal issues, education, federalism, intergovernmental relations, urban issues, health care reform and social welfare policies. Founded in 1981 and based in Albany, NY, the Institute operates under the aegis of the University at Albany within the State University of New York system (SUNY), and often draws upon or coordinates with University resources. The primary goal of the Institute is to develop findings that state and local governments can use to become more effective.

All of the Institute’s research, papers, and reports are made available for public use on the Institute’s Web site

(www.rockinst.org). Also, the Institute regularly conducts Public Policy Forums, during which invited experts and panelists deliver presentations on critical and topical public policy issues. Guest speakers include top elected and appointed leaders from New York and other states, as well as academic experts. Through its Web site, the Institute makes audio and video of our forums available so that those unable to attend in person can listen. Finally, the Institute publishes books on various public policy issues through the Rockefeller Institute Press, including Fighting for Our Health: The Epic Battle to Make Health Care a Right in the United States and New York State Government: Second Edition, the leading text on the subject for students, government officials, and citizens. The Rockefeller Institute also each year publishes the New York State Statistical Yearbook, containing a vast array of data about the state of New York.