Dear Ms. Sassower:

It has come to my attention today, in a phone conversation with your mother, that you are presently incarcerated and have been since July. Your mother also informed me that you would be released no later than December 25, 2005.

In view of the fact that you were incarcerated at the time of my last letter to you (dated September 15, 2004) and that you were also incarcerated during the time until which you were given to retrieve the material you had delivered to certain members of the Krausman Committee ("September 30, 2004"), it is only fair to provide you with a new date to accommodate your circumstances.

Accordingly, you now have until January 14, 2005 to make arrangements for picking up the materials you had previously delivered. In the event that you do not contact any of the committee members to whom this pertains by January 14, 2004, then they will assume that they are free to discard that material.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT A. MARGOLIN
Principal Law Clerk to
A. Gail Prudenti,
